COUNTERFEIT RING BELIEVED SMASHED; 3 AMERICANS HELD

FRANKFURT, Aug. 15 — American and German police reported jointly today the smashing of an international counterfeiting ring in which three U. S. war department employees were arrested in Frankfurt.

Authorities said the ring had headquarters in occupied Germany and its tentacles reached several European capitals. One official said that if all the leads in the case were followed, it would take every criminal investigator in the European theater.

DECONTROLLERS HEAR WARNING

Administration Tells Board New Wage Demands May Be Made

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—The price decontrol board today faced an administration warning that failure to restore price controls on essential food items would bring new demands for higher wages.

Chairman W. Willard Wirtz and Phillips L. Garmon of the president's wage stabilization board said in a letter to the price board that present government wage control policies will have to be revised unless price ceilings are restored on meat, grain and dairy products.

The warning was sounded as the board convened its final hearings on whether to allow meat, grain, dairy products, soy beans and cotton seed to remain free of price controls after next Tuesday. Unless the board acts by then, price curbs automatically will be restored Wednesday.

Representatives of consumers and the dairy industry received time to air their views today on prices for dairy products. Consumer spokesmen were led by CIO President Philip Murray.

Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation, and other industry leaders told the board (Continued on Page Two)

WILDCAT AUTO STRIKE IDLES 3,000 WORKERS

DETROIT, Aug. 15—A wildcat strike idled 3,000 workers in a Chrysler corporation body plant today as some 28,000 auto makers ended a one-day stoppage in Pontiac and a second Chrysler plant in Detroit.

Some 20,000 CIO United Auto Workers returned to their jobs at three General Motors corporation plants in Pontiac, and 7,600 others went back to their jobs in the main Dodge plant at Chrysler here after a V-J day demonstration by war veterans for vacation pay.

A Chrysler spokesman said that 15 men walked out of one department of the company's Kew-Forest body plant this morning because "one man was given a one-day reprimand for loafing."

The stoppage caused the layoff of 3,000 workers and the company said that an additional 1,500 were sent home at noon from the final assembly and paint departments of the Chrysler Jefferson plant because of a shortage of auto bodies.

New Blast Warning Issued

WORKERS RUSH FROM BUILDINGS FOLLOWING CALL

Post Office And Other Holy Land Edifices Said In Danger From Jews

JERUSALEM, Aug. 15—A telephone warning that the Jerusalem general postoffice was about to be blown up sent hundreds of employees scrambling from the building today and tied up communications for three hours.

Trials Enter New Phase

TOKYO, Aug. 15—The war crimes trial entered a new phase today when the prosecution called a witness to present eyewitness accounts of alleged Japanese atrocities against civilians.

John C. Magee, an American Episcopal missionary in China, between 1912 and 1940, testified he saw Japanese soldiers rape Chinese women as old as 79 years during the rape of Nanking in 1937. He said many of the victims were killed and foreign substances inserted into their bodies.

Chinese Chief Prosecutor Che Chunshiang said the rape of Nanking was "typical" of many outrages which the Japanese perpetrated during the war.

Magee said he saw between 12,000 and 13,000 Chinese women and girls taken to colleges in Nanking where foreigners unsuccessfully tried to protect them against bands of Japanese soldiers who roamed the city looking for women.

He also recounted how a Japanese soldier split open the head of a small Chinese child with a downward stroke of his sword.

Magee said that higher Japanese officers could have stopped the outrages but that they made no serious effort to do so.

In his opening statement, Che said that "knowledge of these continuing atrocities in China was brought home to the Japanese high command and the Japanese government in Tokyo." Notwithstanding such protests, he said, the atrocities continued unabated.

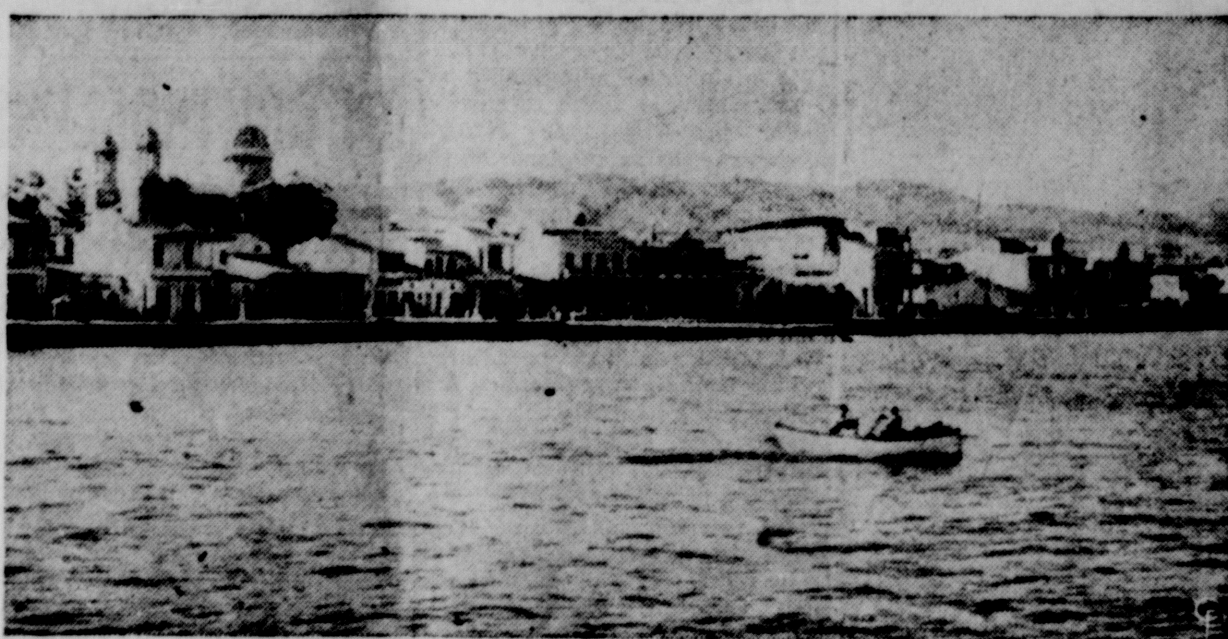

Chinese judicial agencies have reported officially more than 95,000 cases of atrocities between 1937 and 1945 in every occupied province in China, he said.

He asked the military government for a marriage permit. Since he wasn't in the Army—just an American citizen in Berlin—the AMG could find no law forbidding such a marriage.

Joe and Peggy took their vows July 8 at a German marriage license bureau. Peggy had been married twice before; first to a Russian doctor who was killed in 1941, and then to a German soldier who was killed when the Red army entered Berlin. She is 24.

She met Roth four days after the Americans arrived in Berlin last year. Romance "just happened." She didn't think he would be able to come back for her, but when he arrived on July 3, "it all seemed so wonderful to be true," she said.

LAKE TRAFFIC HIT BY STRIKE

Great Lakes Seamen Walk Off Jobs After Wage Discussions Fail

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15 — A strike of 1,100 members of the CIO national maritime union, which began at midnight, crippled shipping on the Great Lakes today and threatened to tie up all traffic on the world's greatest inland waterway, including vital cargoes of grain for European relief.

Joseph Curran, NLU president, flew here from Washington early today to take personal charge of the walkout directed against 11 bulk freight fleets and six tanker companies.

Although only 46 ships manned by NLU crews were involved in the dispute, picket lines are expected to tie up more than 300 vessels which normally transport vital cargoes of coal, oil, steel and iron ore.

Dock workers belonging to other CIO unions, including the United Auto Workers, have pledged support by refusing to load or unload vessels involved in the dispute. Members of the AFL seafarers union in Detroit also promised to join the walkout, tying up three big passenger cruisers of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company.

All Great Lakes seamen, including the 12,000 members of AFL unions, were asked to join the walkout.

The strike was called after negotiations between union officials and government and management (Continued on Page Two)

TRUMAN PLANS 17-DAY CRUISE OFF NEW ENGLAND

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—President Truman will sail from Washington tomorrow for a seventeen-day cruise on the presidential yacht Williamsburg off the New England coast, the White House announced today.

Mr. Truman will be accompanied by his immediate staff.

The Williamsburg will cruise for more than two weeks in the Narragansett bay area and off the coast of Maine.

The President will return to Washington on Labor Day, Sept. 2.

High Prices To Continue Stars Show

BY DON SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15—Current high prices will continue to nag you for the next two years because Saturn is in Leo.

The British Empire will face another severe trial in 1960 when Saturn descends Leo for Sagittarius.

And not only that, but President Truman will be stronger politically in 1948 than he was in 1944 because his sun then will move to mid-Heaven.

These forecasts came out of the American Federation of Astrologers convention here today after the convention had been convened at the "correct astrological time."

Telling of things to come were Edith L. Scott of Los Angeles, California, and Ernie A. Grant, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the group headed by President Keyes Lloyd, Chicago.

The next war, or "real danger period" as Miss Scott and Grant termed it, will come in 1960.

"Saturn rules the bridge between Europe and Asia and that will be the boiling pot of the next war," Miss Scott said.

But we can relax for the present about any Russian moves, she added.

"Russia is having internal troubles at the present time that will delay her aggressiveness and preparations," she said.

"Although we're astrologically not playing ball with Russia," she added, "there will be no immediate international conflict."

As for Britain she can prepare herself to settle the Indian problem in 1960 because India is ruled by Capricorn and "Cappy" says the time will be ripe then.

"The atom bomb is going to awaken the sleeping fires of extinct volcanoes and more islands will appear in the Pacific," she added. And our current crime "wave" will continue because most (Continued on Page Two)

Contempt Charges May Be Filed Against Broker Of Surplus Property

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—Benjamin F. Fields today continued to defy congress by refusing for the fourth time to produce records that had been subpoenaed by a special house committee investigating surplus property.

The committee has stated earlier that such Fields' refusal would result in his being held in contempt of congress and his case turned over to the speaker of the house for reference to a federal grand jury.

Fields told the committee that he had already produced all the records in his possession. The committee wanted additional records concerning a fee that he split on a transaction in surplus wire screenings.

"If I had any other records I would be very happy to furnish them to this committee," Fields said. "There are no records until the auditor sets them up."

"There are no transactions entered in any book in connection with bronze wire screening."

Committee Chairman Roger C. Slaughter, D. Mo., carefully took Fields over the entire ground covered by the committee subpoena.

Fields had threatened to have the committee members themselves (Continued on Page Two)

COL. BRADLEY, 4-TIME DERBY WINNER, DIES

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 15—Col. E. R. Bradley, only owner to win the Kentucky Derby four times, died today of a heart attack at Idle Hours farm, his home.

Bradley, who had been in ill health for two years, was brought to his home May 30, from West Palm Beach, Fla.

The veteran horseman would have been 87 on December 12.

Bradley, who once described himself as a "speculator, raiser of race horses and gambler," made racing history by winning the Kentucky Derby four times. He did it first in 1921 with Behave Yourself, repeated in 1929 with Hubbing Over, again in 1932 with Burgo King and won his final wreath of roses in 1933 with Brokers Tip.

After that there were lean years for Bradley. He sold the fair grounds in New Orleans for $700,000 and began a search for another Derby winner. In 1939 he believed he found one in Bimelech, who in 1938 had been regarded as one of the greatest two-year-olds of all-time. The cologne was desperately ill that derby day so he did not see his odds-on favorite lose out to a 35 to 1 shot named Gallahadion. Bimelech later won the Preakness and the Belmont stakes, but Bradley never got over his defeat in the Derby.

Bradley tried for the Derby after that, his latest attempt being with Burning Dream in 1945, but his racing fortunes began to ebb.

JUDGE ACTON HEARS WATER COMPANY CASE

Judge Parker Denies Earlier Action Against City; New Case Under Advisement

At the conclusion of a hearing in Pickaway county common pleas court Judge Frank M. Acton, Lancaster, who presided by assignment, Thursday noon took under advisement the injunction suit filed by the Ohio Water Service company and the city's demurrer to that action.

Following the two-hour court hearing Judge Acton granted the company's counsel until Aug. 27 to file briefs and the city's attorneys are to file answering briefs within five days thereafter.

In its suit the Ohio Water Service company asked for a permanent injunction to restrain the city of Circleville from taking over and operating the water system for which the municipality paid $420,000 last July 10.

Late Wednesday afternoon Judge Earl D. Parker of the Pike county common pleas court, Waverly, filed in the office of Clerk of Courts Arthur Wilder, a ruling denying the water company's motion to quash the writ of possession which was issued by Clerk Wilder to the city upon payment of the $420,000.

Judge Parker had presided, by assignment, at a hearing held in Pickaway County Common Pleas court July 26 on that motion, and at that time he took the matter under advisement. His ruling, which denied the company's motion, says, in part:

"It is not necessary to pass upon the validity of this judgment entry, but suffice it to say that the writ issued pursuant to that judgment entry is regular and valid (Continued on Page Two)"

Atom Bomb Defense Due

SEATTLE, Aug. 15—A super-sonic missile capable of destroying aircraft laden with A-bombs and other destructive weapons has been developed, Boeing aircraft and Air Force officials announced today.

Officials said the defense weapons were pilotless craft. Sixty of the "missiles" will be launched this year in testing operations on the great salt desert of Utah.

A joint statement by Boeing and the Army did not disclose how the rockets would be fired.

While the announcement contained no specific reference to atom bombs, it said the project was developed for defense purposes only in the event of future hostilities.

First models of the new repellent were powered by standard aero-jet rocket units and in models now under construction a booster power unit is attached to the tail of the pilotless craft which accelerates the missile to supersonic speeds in a few seconds.

The missiles were described as pencil-thin, ten-foot rockets capable of traveling at aerial-destroying speeds.

Officials said Boeing Aircraft company now had a 30-man research staff at Wondover, Utah, and that additional engineering staffs at Seattle were engaged in the project.

$2,250,000 ALLOCATED TO HELP RESTORE WILD LIFE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—The interior department today announced allotment of $2,250,000 to the states for restoration and development of their wildlife resources.

Each state contributes 25 per cent of the cost of such projects. The other 75 per cent is supplied from federal funds. Thus total expenditures in the fiscal year ending next June 30 will total about $3,000,000. State allotments included: Ohio $87,330.

Byrnes Accuses Soviets Of Misrepresenting American Position On Treaties

ENSLAVEMENT FEARED
Freedom Of Opportunity For Axis Satellites Urged Of Conferees

PARIS, Aug. 15—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes charged at the Paris conference today that Russia has misrepresented the American position on treaties for Axis satellites and called for freedom of economic opportunity in the defeated states to save them from "economic enslavement."

Byrnes asserted that the United States resented misstatement of the American position by Russia. His assertions were greeted by loud applause and shouts of "hear, hear" from the British delegation.

"Peace among the allies cannot be furthered by ignoring misstatements leveled against the United States from this floor," Byrnes said. "We object to misrepresentations of our position and motives. America has no apology to make for the principles of liberty, justice and freedom which we have defended."

Byrnes clashed sharply with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's economic ideas concerning the former Axis satellites, noting that all of them had been systematically penetrated by Germany. He asked whether it was not proposed that "another country be substituted for Germany" as the anchor of their economy—an obvious reference to Russia.

Opposes Suggestion
"It is out of such arrangements that economic enslavement arises," he said. "The United States must repudiate the suggestion of the Soviet delegate that economic proposals of the United States based on equality and the most favored nations principle are part of a plan to exploit the former enemy nations for the selfish advantage of the United States."

He said that the Potsdam conference had agreed, in principle, to the United States proposition that the satellites should not make trade agreements granting special advantages to any allied nation.

Byrnes' statement was a direct reply to Molotov's charges that Britain and the United States were trying to enslave Italy economically.

Objects To Impression
Byrnes objected to Russia giving the impression that other former enemy states were more democratic than Italy "just because (Continued on Page Two)"

CZECH FAMILIES BEING SENT TO OTHER STATES

BRATISLAVA, Aug. 15—Thousands of families in Hungary and Czechoslovakia were uprooted from their ancestral homes today in a 20th century effort to solve one of Europe's "oldest" minority problems and prevent another "Sudeten crisis."

Czech Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk appeared before the 21-nation peace conference at Paris to defend the agreement against Hungarian charges of "deception" as the mass exodus began.

Czechoslovakia hopes to gain approval of a complete exchange of minorities, but under the agreement signed Feb. 27 only 100,000 from each of the two countries will be transferred.

Slovaks now living in Hungary are anxious to return to their homeland. Shortages of food and employment in Hungary, coupled with that nation's unbelievable inflation, make their choice an easy one.

But some of the Hungarians in Slovakia want to stay there. They claim the Czechs are "expelling" them, that they can't take all their property with them, and that the agreement amounts to expropriation.

Position On Treaties

they have harmonized their views
to those of the Soviet Union."

"We are opposed to making small nations satellites of great powers," Byrnes said. "American offers her friendship to all who will reciprocate her friendship. The best assurance against the division of the world into blocs is assurance of non-discriminatory treatment in commercial matters."

"America seeks no territories or reparations. But the United States does ask that the property of herself and that of the United Nations be restored or compensated. That principle is usually recognized in peace treaties. It was agreed to by the Soviet government at Potsdam and in the armistice terms."

"But now the Soviet government says it would be an onerous burden on the people. But it is nothing like the great sums which our Soviet friends are asking from these countries as reparations."

Tells of Expense

"What great power enriched itself during the war? I certainly know of none. I hope the Soviet representative was not referring to the United States which so readily came to the aid of the Soviet Union."

Byrnes said that the United States spent $400,000,000,000 in the war, most of it borrowed from the people who "for years to come must work to pay off that debt."

Vishinsky Replies

Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia took the rostrum to answer Byrnes. Byrnes spoke after foreign minister Jan Masarik of Czechoslovakia denounced Hungary
which he charged was seeking a softer peace through spokesmen
who sounded just like their fascist, semi-fascist and feudal predecessors.

Vishinsky said he would not answer Byrnes' remarks in detail,
but that Molotov would do so at the proper time and place. He accused Byrnes of being a little late in discussing such questions as Italy and Greece. His reference was to the fact that general debate on Italy was closed Monday while Byrnes was chairman.

He said a suggestion by Byrnes
that the former enemy states be heard again later in the conference was a "great surprise" to the Soviets, since no such procedure had been decided. He said Byrnes' discussion of such procedural matters today when the topic was not on the agenda was incorrect procedure, but added:

"Of course each speaker has the right to say anything at any time and the Soviets would not object if such statements as Byrnes' helped the conference move forward instead of backward."

Vishinsky insisted that economic discussions regarding the satellites
must consider first, obligations already undertaken by the defeated
nations, and second, economic conditions affecting their ability to pay more.

"It is the perfect right of the Soviet Union to demand reparations from those countries for damage
on our territory and injuries suffered by our citizens at the hands of their soldiers," he said,
"and we refuse to admit the right of anyone to deny us this."

He said that Hungary had obligated herself to pay Russia $33-500,000 reparations but to date
had provided only $10,000,000.
Under the Russo-Hungarian trade agreement, he said, Russia has sent Hungary $16,000,000 in goods
and received only $6,000,000 back.

"Soviet policy is consistent," he said, "and I submit it is realistic.
It is aimed not at strangling Hungarian economy but at helping the Hungarian people to join the family of peaceful nations."

He blamed Hungary's economic collapse on devastation by the Germans and by removal of property by the Germans. Most of that property, he understood, "is now in the hands of the United States."

Slaughter scoffed at the threat

dum that Fields has furnished the Following the conclusion of this was a formality incident upon

on its face, and will therefore be upheld."

When Thursday's hearing began at 10:20 a. m. before Judge Acton
of the Fairfield county common pleas court, Attorneys Joseph W.
Addins and Tom A. Renick represented the city, while Attorneys Frank Dunbar, Columbus, and Carl Leist, Circleville, were counsel for the water company. Attorney Robert Barton, Columbus, appeared on behalf of the bonding company which loaned the cash to the city
for the water property purchase.

During the legal arguments presented by the opposing lawyers, Attorney Dunbar contended that the court had no authority under the law to issue its order of Oct. 15 1945 giving the municipality six months time in which to buy the water properties for $420,000
which was the value placed on the properties by the jury in June, 1945 in the city's condemnation suit against the Ohio Water Service company.

Attorney Dunbar also maintained that the state law on which that order was based permits the taking over by condemnation proceedings of real estate only, and he argued that of the $420,000 appraised "personal property."

In referring to Attorney Dunbar's claims, Attorney Renick declared the argument was "a new and novel procedure," and he charged that the water company's counsel had injected "frivolous"
matters into the litigation with the aim of accomplishing delays.

Attorney Addins reviewed events leading up to the purchase of the water system, declaring that on June 30, 1945 the jury fixed the value of the properties at $420,000
and that the court order confirming the verdict was issued Oct. 15, 1945. The company's injunction suit was filed July 13, 1946, he asserted, three days after the city had paid $420,000 in currency to Clerk of Courts Wilder for the water system.

Attorney Addins said that the same questions involved in the injunction suit had been decided in previous court rulings and he denied the company's contention that the description of the properties in the writ of possession was "indefinite, vague, and incomplete." He also denied the company's claim that the Oct. 15, 1945 court order was invalid.

On behalf of the bonding company Attorney Barton urged that the city's demurrer to the injunction suit be sustained.

Attorney Dunbar argued that the court was without jurisdiction
in the condemnation action and that its order of Oct. 15, 1945 was therefore "null and void." He asserted that the company was entitled to a declaratory judgment defining its property rights.

On behalf of the water company
Attorney Leist declared the company has a right to have its rights declared by the court and he asked that the city's demurrer to the injunction suit be overruled. He also asked that the company's attorneys be given ample time in which to file briefs.

WARM WEATHER, MORE SHOWERS ARE PREDICTED

Slightly warmer weather with more light showers Thursday night and Friday and Saturday constituted the official weather prediction Thursday. The prediction is for more cool weather by Saturday night.

Rain fell in many areas of the middle west, Thursday, and record
rains were reported from the sun-dried corn-growing districts in Missouri and Kansas. The heavy rains nearly destroyed bumper bottomland corn crops and heavily damaged thousands of acres of
hay. Several rivers in Missouri and Kansas were near flood stage as a result of the precipitation. The Osage River was more than six feet above flood level. At Bagnell Dam on the Osage 16.36 inches of rain had fallen in two days. More than six inches fell at Clinton, Mo., Northeastern Kansas cornfields,
which had been abnormally dry,
received soaking rains that reached a peak of seven inches at Topeka.

Thunderstorms were predicted
Thursday night and Friday for Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, and in the west and central portions of Ohio.

the wage board could continue to limit general wage increases to 35 percent above the Jan. 1, 1941, level unless the rise in the cost of living is rolled back. They held that the cost of living since that date has gone up 40 percent.

They stated that wage-price stability had been achieved by June 30 and the nation's general wage structure was returning to normalcy. They contended that if the price and wage controls in effect
then are continued, the wage rate adjustments of the next six months
can be relatively small.

"It is our judgment that this situation cannot be maintained if food costs remain at their present level," they said.

W. A. Wentworth of New York City, testifying on behalf of the dairy industry committee, said
price controls would "cost the consumer more in the long run."

"A resumption of price controls for a temporary period," he declared, "would have a long-term adverse effect on prices and supplies
which would far outweigh the fleeting advantages to consumers of a temporary price rollback."

Wentworth said that with the exemption of 1942, present dairy supplies for civilians are at all-time highs. The per person ratio, he said, now is 18 percent above
pre war levels, and total milk production has risen 16 percent above average production before the war.

He added that a survey made by the committee showed that butter
and evaporated milk in 26 principal cities are selling below the old ceiling prices.

sought shelter while police and army units searched the building for explosives.

Last night a strict censorship
was imposed on all telephone conversations throughout the Holy Land. Authorities took the step in hope of preventing further false alarms. Nevertheless today's warning tied up all telegraph and long distance telephones as well
as local circuits.

Many of the employees refused to return to work even after an exhaustive search of the building had uncovered no explosive. The warnings were similar to that last month which preceded the blowing up of the King David hotel.

Security forces were strengthened in Haifa as the dingy refugee vessel "Katriel Yaffe" with its cargo of uncertified immigrants was tied up behind the British cruiser Mauritius. Deportation was expected to be carried out in the same manner as the shipment of 1300 refugees Tuesday.

(The Irgun Zvai Leumi clandestine transmitter broadcast an appeal to Palestine Jews for "a general revolt and the creation of a Jewish people's sovereign independent government," according to a BBC report heard by NBC.)

An air of expectancy hung over Haifa. Police clashed with several hundred demonstrators in the city's streets last night, charging them with batons. Several persons were injured slightly. The mass protest followed the funeral of three Jews killed in Tuesday's deportation rioting.

The verdict in the case of 22
Jewish youths facing a British military court on charges of attacking the Haifa railroad shops
may be delivered today. Life sentences were predicted by observers familiar with military law. If death sentences were imposed, observers believed an outburst of violence would be certain to follow.

The "Katriel Yaffe" with its 615 refugees arrived in Haifa early Tuesday, as the first load of refugees was being dispatched to Cyprus. The immigrants lined the rails last night while Jewish agency officials shouted to them from launches. Two of the six expectant mothers aboard were taken ashore.

Strong military guards barred
the public from the cargo jetty.
Boats with barbed wire cages still were moored in the harbor. Ashore, restaurants and theaters were almost empty, just as they were in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv. British troops avoided the Jewish places of entertainment, even though the army non-fraternization order no longer was in effect.

A new quota of 1600 immigration certificates for the month ending Sept. 14 was officially announced last night. Of these 1500 will be for Jews. This means that 1500 illegal immigrants who landed in June and have since been detained in the Athlit camp will be released and permitted to settle.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers (CIO) said today

trols where permitted to do so.
He said they would be reopened front "if the government fails to give us the protection we need on the price front."

POLIO DANGER IS STILL GRAVE

Outbreak Slowing Down In Southwest But Increasing
In Three States

By United Press

The nation's worst poliomyelitis outbreak in recent years appeared on the wane in some southeastern states today, but continued unabated in Minnesota, Colorado and California.

Health authorities in Missouri,
South Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma
and Texas reported that the disease rate apparently had declined this week, but warned that it was still too early to make definite predictions.

The department of public health
at Washington said 1,543 new cases were reported last week and 1,263 the week before. Seven thousand persons have contracted the disease since Jan. 1, the department said.

The worst previous year in recent history was 1944, when 5,008
persons were stricken and 1,016
new cases occurred in a single week.

The polio rate in Minnesota,
center of the outbreak continued
its upward climb, causing state health officials to order cancellation
of the state fair, Minneapolis,
home of the famed Sister Kenny Institute for Infantile Paralysis, had 790 cases.

In Colorado, where 340 cases and 22 deaths have been reported so far this year, officials were considering postponing the opening of public schools.

The California public health service sent out an urgent appeal for nurses and physical therapists. Los Angeles county hospitals were admitting 20 to 25 new patients daily. The state has had 532 cases since the first of the year.

Washington state health director Arthur Ringle described the situation as critical. The state had 19 new cases last week.

OHIO SCHOOLS STILL NEED 2,301 MORE TEACHERS

Bowers Points to Shortage Of Instructors With New Term Nearing

With the opening of school less than a month away, Ohio's 1,130,000 school children are looking forward to their return to the classroom, while superintendents and boards of education are still trying to find 2,301 teachers to fill vacancies now existing in Ohio schools.

In a report to Dr. Clyde Hissong, state director of education, Harold J. Bowers, supervisor of teacher education and certification, pointed out today the shortage of teachers in many fields is more acute now than at any time during the war. (Last year Ohio employed 39,199 public school teachers).

Bowers said this situation is due to a continued loss of teachers, a decline in the supply of new teachers, and increased enrollments. During the past three months, 276 teachers left Ohio classrooms to accept better-paying positions in business and industry. Fourteen went to the armed forces, 331 retired, 27 died, 558 left school for marriage and 915 left for various other reasons.

Bowers also pointed out that rural schools are having the greatest difficulty in filling their positions. A total of 1,532 vacancies exist in these schools. Cities report 316 vacancies, and exempted village districts 183.

While there was a slight increase in the number of college graduates qualified for teaching, many refused teaching positions because of more lucrative employment elsewhere, Bowers said.

The greatest need for teachers is at the elementary level where 1,015 or 50% of all vacancies remain to be filled. High school vacancies which local school superintendents are finding most difficult to fill are: music, 186 vacancies; physical education, 156 vacancies; business education, 116 vacancies; industrial arts, 87 vacancies; vocational home economics, 65 vacancies; vocational agriculture, 61 vacancies; other secondary subjects, 229 vacancies.

Bowers stressed in his report that recovery of Ohio schools from wartime teacher shortages has been retarded by the schools' financial inability to attract back into the profession those lost during the war years. Of those lost to business and industry, only 97 are returning to teaching in September. Of those recently returned from the armed service, 546 have accepted positions for the coming year. Superintendents have employed 293 teachers from other states who will be teaching in Ohio this year.

Bowers deplored the fact that young people are not preparing to become teachers. In response to requests by the state department of education, colleges, even though hard-pressed to accommodate swelling general enrollments, have established quotas and gone to considerable expense to aid in the training of an increased number of teachers. Yet these quotas are only partially filled today. This is especially true in the case of prospective elementary teachers. The

60 BUSHEL PEACHES ARE SOLD WITHIN FEW HOURS

Sale of approximately 60 bushels of peaches within a few hours, according to a statement Thursday by J. L. May, operator of May's Fruit Farm, on State Route 188, again proved the advertising power of The Daily Herald.

In a four-line classified ad which appeared for three successive days, in The Daily Herald, May offered peaches for sale at $2 a bushel on Monday. Before 11 a. m. on that day all of the peaches had been sold. The buyers brought their own containers—and some of them helped pick the peaches they purchased.

number preparing for this field will not supply more than 10% of the current demand, Bowers lamented.

CHIANG INVITES COMMUNISTS TO HIS GOVERNMENT

NANKING, Aug. 15—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek warned Chinese Communists today that "rebellion must be put down" and invited them to join his Kuomintang government in peaceful efforts to build a democratic and unified nation.

Chiang promised to end the period of "political tutelage," referred to recently by Mme. Sun Yat-Sen, and to establish a constitutional government without delay in spite of all obstacles.

At Peking, U. S. Ambassador John Leighton Stuart said Chiang's remarks did not remove the difficulties pointed out in the joint statement he issued with Gen. George C. Marshall last Saturday. The two American envoys termed China's civil conflict "impossible" of settlement, despite the fact that both sides appeared anxious to achieve peace.

COLORADO CROPS GOOD

FASCISTS WAIT FOR NEW LEADER LIKE MUSSOLINI

Small Bands Of Italians Said Ready To Back New Bid For Power

By EDGAR E. CLARK
United Press Staff Correspondent

ROME, Aug. 15.—Small, isolated bands of Italians today are waiting for a new Benito Mussolini to arise and lead Italy back to the role of a strong state.

During the past three months I have visited units of Italy's new "fascist army."

These units can be found scattered from the Alps and Milan and Venice areas in the north, down through Rome (its nerve center in the south) to the port cities of Naples and Bari.

Throughout the peninsula, I have seen only a few thousands who profess to be ready to give their lives for the rebirth of fascism, but the leaders assert that their effective strength is at least 200,000. There appears to be no way of confirming whether the claim is exaggerated.

The most militant units are north of Venice, in the area roughly parallel to the allies' Venezia Giulia zone.

Supporters for the most part seem to be Italian refugees from the Yugoslav-controlled zone as well as the former Italian sectors of penetration along the Dalmatian coast.

The best information indicates they are in possession of many and large caches of arms, ranging from small arms and grenades to light artillery, well hidden in homes and barns and the scores of caves in the frigid Alps region close to the Austrian border.

Although I saw only Italian fascists, they claimed and expected support "at the proper moment" from the Yugoslav Chetniks and Ustashi, deserters from Gen. Wladislaw Anders' Polish army now being disbanded, and other political exiles.

Every fascist with whom I talked was a fanatic and it was hard to believe that he and his comrades represented a serious threat to the Italian republic unless it is recalled that the original fascist uprising a quarter of a century ago was made with similar types—small numbers of desperate and determined men.

I could not help being impressed with the fact that I met these men almost everywhere in the north.

There, the fascist ranks are filled by thousands of industrial unemployed, estimated at close to 1,000,000 throughout Italy and growing steadily in numbers.

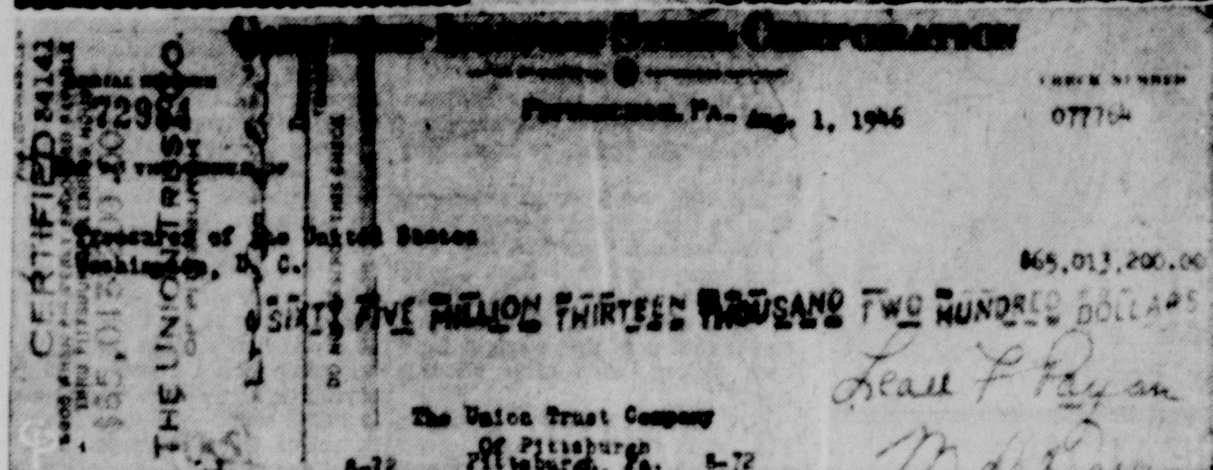

In the south, the fascists are made up of those who were disappointed in the Communists' unsuccessful attempts in bringing about long needed agrarian reforms.

In Rome, there are university students, young dandies and common street hoodlums.

The fascist sentiment has been growing during the past year. The pre-war and wartime fascist leaders were caught, tried and convicted by last Winter. But then Italian political thought began swinging right and apparently the purge ended.

Now there are many who openly proclaim that they are fascists. Despite these open declarations, the police cannot do anything unless the men are on lists of previously wanted fascists or are openly provoking disorders.

The adherents of the new cause are drawn by confused and foggy thinking of the political philosophers as typified by the professor who teaches me Italian.

He said "under fascism we had law and order, prices were down, there was work and food for everyone. Under democracy there are bandits; the right people can hardly make a living with prices going up every day. There must be something wrong with democracy."

The active fascists seem so far to be doing little. They have an underground press which is unimportant. They have secret meetings, passwords, identity cards. They change headquarters often.

Recently, however, the hoodlum characteristics of the early "black shirts" have come to the fore. Small bands wreck leftist headquarters, throw bombs at Communist offices, and beat up sus-

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge Emmitt L. Crist had under advisement, Thursday, a decision in the $851.50 suit instituted by Mrs. Matilda LeMaster, Ashville, against Mrs. Lillie Seymour as administratrix of the estate of Herbert Nelson Rader, Ashville.

PATENT CHANGES

MUCH controversial discussion is going on in research and manufacturing circles about the proposed changes in the United States patent laws. Some changes have already been made, such as the stipulation that a patent must be applied for within a year after the date of conception. This rule works hardships in cases of invention of new processes which sometimes requires three years of experimentation before perfection is attained.

According to B. E. Schaar, who has published a paper discussing different attitudes of inventors toward the rewards of their work, there are two classes, one group being satisfied with fame and honor, while the other set considers material rewards alone. This writer admits, however, that many practical inventors work for the pure joy of creating, a feeling which they have in common with the great scientists whose discoveries are available to everyone.

If these patent reforms make it next to impossible to get a patent and reduce the time limit to a point where all profit is practically eliminated, many men with inventive minds but no capital for the development of their ideas will be forced to turn their hands to some other form of activity. For the inventor, like the laborer, must eat.

DUCK SEASON

THE wild duck population has dropped to a "dangerous level," according to Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug. More hunters and fewer ducks, because of drought in the North Central states, have cut the number from more than 125 million to 80 million in two years.

This year the birds will have a slight respite. The hunting season is being reduced from 80 to 45 days, the daily bag limit from 10 to seven ducks. The Migratory Bird Treaty Act gives the President authority to alter the regulations, and the Fish and Wildlife Service recommended the changes.

It would be a pity to see the wild ducks vanish, just because too many sportsmen got too enthusiastic. Even the new low limit of seven is a handsome supply for a hunter to take home in the evening.

When garbage collectors in Canton, O., went on strike, the mayor rolled up his sleeves and did some collecting himself. That's one way to be a "working executive."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—Private arrangements were made by the leaders to get congress back on the job in a hurry if any unforeseen emergency calls for action before the scheduled reassembling of the new session in January. Airplane travel being what it is, President Truman could get a quorum of both houses in a few hours and the entire body within 24 hours. These special arrangements were made before the senate and representatives wended their way back to the modern hustings mounting a microphone (which incidentally provides instantaneous transmission of news.)

Thus the crowd of lawmakers went home in personal confidence that they had not abandoned their jobs for electioneering in the usual completeness and were wisely ready for the election hiatus.

While Mr. Truman and the various contesting factions of Democrats and Republicans had not agreed on much else, they agreed on this.

In accord with this willingness to cooperate, through the aftermath of bitterness upon certain basic essentials, within the past few days Democratic Senator Connally and Republican Senator Vandenberg have let it be known they expect to go back to Paris at the end of this month.

The lawmakers, en toto, thought they had made an unusually good record in their session, indeed an incomparable one in bulk. They debated, fought, threw mud and received it, but they left upon the record of law enacted a list composed of such accomplishments as these: a tax reduction bill, the Bretton Woods agreement, the United Nations charter, a tariff cut in the trade agreements act, OPA extension, draft extension, British loan, Army-Navy pay increase, anti-Petrillo radio bill, Hobbs anti-racketeering bill, full employment bill, congressional streamlining, two of the five Truman executive reorganization plans, the veterans housing bill, atomic energy control, RFC extension, Pearl Harbor investigation (finished), Mead war profits (continuing), and of course, hundreds, if not thousands, of others.

While some of these moves were considerably less pretty than their fancy names, or you might say less thoroughly handled or completely desirable to all than they were called, as a whole they do make a surprising list. They show a tremendous amount of affirmative work.

The negative side was not neglected either. Those proposals which failed of passage in this congress included:

Unemployment compensation (for which there seems to be little hurry in a period of more need for work than ever before). The minimum wage bill (in a wage economy where the minimum already is higher than ever before), the long-range housing bill which is accurately described in the adjective commonly applied to it, the Case bill (vetoed), the Army-Navy merger which would require several years after passage to work the branches into the complete envisioned benefits, a totalitarianesque universal military training law, equal rights for women (who seem to be exercising rights which are far more equal in some instances), the Wagner Dingell "cradle-to-the-grave" bill, which

DIET AND HEALTH

Jaundice No Disease in Itself

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

JAUNDICE, a greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin and mucous membranes, well illustrates the difference between a disease and the signs or symptoms it creates in the body.

To say that a person is suffering from jaundice means little to the doctor, for jaundice is the characteristic symptom of widely varied ailments. It is not a disease in itself. It may be present in the infant, in the youth or in the aged, and in each case it may signify a different disorder and demand a different treatment.

Certain Types

Certain types of jaundice are due to destruction of large numbers of red blood cells. The coloring matter of these red cells is broken down in the body and transformed into the sort of pigments which color the bile. Thus, more such pigments are formed than the body can get rid of and these produce the yellow color of the skin.

In other instances, the jaundice is due to the fact that the liver is diseased and the bile pigments get into the blood from the liver. In still other cases, the flow of bile from the liver to the intestine is blocked and the bile pigments get into the blood.

It is important to tell just which type of jaundice is present, because the treatment to be used will depend on the cause of the difficulty. For example, if the jaundice is due to blocking of the flow of bile, an operation is usually required. On the other hand, if the trouble is due to other causes, operation would be serious for the patient.

Younger Persons

Catarrhal jaundice is a condition affecting younger persons especially. In this condition there is inflammation of the liver. It is probably due to an infection of the liver by a virus, that is, an organism so small that it can pass through the openings of a porcelain filter.

Gallstone disease, with blocking of the bile passages, occurs chiefly in middle life and in women. Blocking of the bile passages by cancer is a disorder of the elderly. Thus, the age of the patient may sometimes give a lead as to the cause of the jaundice.

In about three-fourths of the patients with jaundice due to gallstones, there is pain in the right upper part of the abdomen. The pain usually passes into the back. In about one out of twenty instances, the stones cause no pain, while in one out of five the pain may occur in other parts of the abdomen. If the patient has fever with chills, sweats, and tenderness over the liver in addition to jaundice, he often will be found to have what is known as cholangitis, which is an inflammation of the bile passages.

Liver Damage

In those instances in which severe damage to the liver occurs, resulting in jaundice, there are mental confusion, stupor, and unconsciousness. From these facts, it can be seen how important it is that the patients with these symptoms should see the doctor without delay and not trust to self-treatment.

The doctor, in treating a patient with jaundice, knows how important it is that the patient be kept in bed and be given plenty of sugars and starchy foods, as well as an abundance of proteins. The fat should be limited. The patient also should receive an abundance of fluids.

As soon as the condition improves sufficiently, various tests may be carried out such as X-rays of the abdomen and gallbladder, and tests of the blood and liver action, to determine the exact cause of the trouble so that a permanent cure may be brought about as soon as possible.

Newsmen Named Truman For Vice President Post

Two Favorite Stories of Publisher John H. Perry

By AUSTINE CASSINI
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Rural press lord, John H. Perry, running after his hat, blown off in the preppish at Washington airport, on the way to his Kentucky plantation. . . . Perry, the 65-year-old owner of a nation-wide chain of country papers, is an old-line newspaperman, who started business as a Seattle lawyer. . . . He has dabbled in politics and the press for so long that he has known top figures in both fields. He enjoys telling about the night he was playing backgammon with Harry Hopkins, who asked: "What about a vice president to run with F. D. R.? He must be a man sure to carry an uncertain state."

"How about Henry Wallace?" suggested Perry. Harry gave him an are-you-kidding look. "He wouldn't get two votes in Iowa."

"Well," Perry continued, "what about Senator Harry Truman from Missouri?"

Harry Hopkins thought a moment. "Say," he exclaimed, "I think that's an idea!"

Another of John Perry's favorite stories concerns the time he mentioned Arthur Brisbane to William Jennings Bryan, who tossed a torrent of epithets: "That cur! That scoundrel! That etc!" Perry looked shocked. "Why, that's strange," he fibbed. "Just the other day I was talking to Brisbane and he said what a wonderful fellow you were!"

"Oh, well, now, don't get me wrong," protested William Jennings Bryan, completely changing his tone.

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE

FLO SAID a little excitedly, "Neil, why don't you write a book about your own life?"

"My life!" Neil gave a short laugh.

"Yes! You make it seem so—rich! The things you've said about your grandmother and your relatives. And then your going to New York. . . . You said that had ups and downs. You said something about 'starring,' you and Cole. . . ."

Flo stopped, seeing Neil's lips straighten. She remembered that whenever Neil had spoken of Cole, she had said only so much and then abruptly had talked of something else. She'd do that now. . . .

"But Neil said, 'I did get that crack off, didn't I? At that cocktail party, where I met you. I suppose I couldn't resist the opportunity to remind Cole of it. It wasn't actual starving, of course, but it was pretty thin eating.'"

Again Flo held her breath, fearful that Neil would pull her blind down, laugh, speak of something else.

But Neil went on, in a tone of figuring it out aloud, "Maybe I was a little jealous of you that day. You were everything Cole likes—your looks, your clothes, a sort of cool defiance about you. At least you had it that day. Yes, I might have been jealous, even after all this time."

"Of me! How silly!" protested Flo, warmly. "You, with your brains! Writing a book like 'Joyful Fields.'"

Neil said, with some disgust, "It is silly—but not for the reasons you put. Let's sit down." She dropped down on the grassy slope beside the road, circled her knees. "Why, I hadn't seen Cole for over six years! I'd been in Hollywood doing some script work and then I went up to Carmel to write that book—and wouldn't you think I'd have got him out of my system in that time? That's what is silly!"

"Oh, don't I know!" cried Flo, but so low that the other did not hear it.

Neil went on, in her considering tone, "It may be a hangover from the idea I used to have that I had to take care of him. That's what held him as long as I had him. I knew it at the time. And it's what he came to hate. Naturally he'd hate it. . . ."

Flo was marveling at the detachment with which Neil could speak of it. But to hear her defend Cole was a little too much. She was indignant, "I should think you'd have hated him, if he wasn't even grateful!"

Neil shook her head. "No, I knew just how he'd feel—I knew him so well, you see. It never was with us the kind of passion that swept us off our feet—if it had been, it would have been easy to hate him and then forget him."

"You mean. . . ." Flo's voice broke. Her and Dan's love affair, other had swept them off their feet.

"Well, that kind doesn't grow deep roots in you." Here Neil stopped to give her quick laugh.

"Hear me laying down the principles of love! As if I'd had a vast experience in all its varieties!"

Then she gave Flo a warm glance. "I must feel that we're really friends, Flo. I haven't stripped my soul like this to anyone before."

Flo's only answer was to nod her head. To say anything would spoil the moment. And the little silence into which each fell with mutual accord seemed to draw them closer.

Neil finally broke it. She sat straighter. "I might as well tell you the whole thing between Cole and me. Then you'd see that he would do what he did. You know him well enough, I think, to see. He had a room in the house where I lived, an old dump down on Bank Street in New York. We had met on the stairs a few times, talked some. But one night I heard him coughing his head off. I stood it until almost morning and then I barged in on him. I took over—he was a pretty sick boy for a week. I found out he was down to his last cent, that he'd been haunting the bookie offices for weeks on a practically empty stomach. When he was back on his feet, he didn't have any better luck. I had a job with a third-rate publishing house at the time, not much of a one, but it paid for my room and some food. I'd been cooking for myself on a gas-plate in my room—it was cheaper—so I cooked for the two of us. Our diet was skimpy, but I put ten pounds on Cole that winter! I was writing evenings, so I got Cole to work on a play—he hadn't thought of it before. It was not so good, but it helped his morale!"

She paused, loosened her hands around her knees, clasped them again. "Cole was—sweet. He can be quite a few different kinds of a person—but he was his real self, that little while. Then the next winter he got a part in a play that was opening. It had a good enough run to put him in the money. He moved away from the Bank Street house. The next year his own play came out. That's the story! And Cole would tell you it's ended, last curtain down."

Flo felt a variety of feelings, but indignation was uppermost and she spoke it, hotly, "I think he's a heel!"

"No," said Neil, with a quick shake of her head. "He tried to pay me back—in money. He figured it out, what I must have spent. And I wouldn't take it. That was where I was blind—I didn't see that it was the only way he knew to square it all up—I left him feeling he was in my debt. I hung it around his neck. So, to get free of it, he avoided me. I understood. I think I knew, all the time we were together, that it would happen. I was sorry we ran into each other, that day in Stanton. It made him furious—and you know now what it did to me!"

Flo cried, almost incredulously, "He really said that?"

"Yes, he really said that. Flo knew, that each had let the other far enough into herself."

She walked beside Neil in silence, shaken by what she had said of herself. She'd known it, of course, but to put it into words had made it the more damning.

That night she lay with sober eyes fixed on the darkness of the cabin, seeing herself through and through for the first time in her life. She lay very still, her face burning.

For Thursday, August 15

AN UNFORESEEN and dramatic crisis may bring a sudden transition of radical importance to the life and its expectations. This untoward situation might be attributable to some sort of erratic, tempestuous or emotional outburst, reacting upon the private, sentimental or inner life, or the affectional aspirations.

Intuitions or hunches may be misleading and upset the most cherished desires. Meeting reverses with calmness, may be diverted to much inner solace and as well material benefit. Seek renewal in solitude.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of strange or bewildering adventures and experiences, in which the emotional, spiritual or artistic life are involved. Erratic or rash impulses may precipitate peculiar crises, whereas balanced, calm, and sensible reactions to possible upsets or adversities might be the means of averting danger and trouble. Logic and philosophic analysis of problems should prove more dependable than emotional flares or misguided "hunches."

A child born on this day may have exceptional talents for some unique experiences of material worth, but its emotional or intuitive propensities may need supervision.

PROOF OF LOCATION

AN OPPONENT, known for weak hands with a great long suit whenever he makes an original bid of three or more in a suit, is very unlikely to hold a high card in any side suit. When you are playing against one of his pre-emptively bid contracts, you can nearly always count your partner for any missing ace in another suit, and usually for any missing side king. Failure to take that obvious factor into account can result in your giving the declarer his contract on a silver platter.

Against that bidding, West led his club 3, the Q winning. Without a moment's hesitation, East then returned the club K. South ruffed this, ran seven hearts and then three diamonds to score a total of 11 tricks, giving him an extra above his contract.

What in this world was the matter with East? Did he possibly think South had the spade A? More likely, he didn't think at all!

or he would have realized that, with the spade A in his hand, South would not have betokened weakness with that pre-empting 3-Hearts bid.

West was exactly right in not leading a spade, which would have risked giving the declarer a trick if the K or Q was in either the closed hand or the dummy. But East was dead wrong in not switching to a spade. He should, after a look at the dummy, have realized that West positively had that card, and might also have held the 10.

If East had taken his spade K on the second trick and then led his J—or, for that matter, any other spade at all—the defenders would have scored three tricks in the suit and would have set the declarer a trick.

Four-H Club Girls of Pickaway county, who were 14 years of age or older Jan. 1, 1946 and who have been in club work at least three years, will compete in a style revue and demonstration contest, at Memorial Hall, Friday. The revue is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Classes include: complete costume; dress up dress; tailored dress; sports clothes; school dress; and cotton dress.

Three winners from this group will enter the state 4-H style revue at the State Fair, August 30, to model their garments against the best in the other counties of Ohio.

In addition, one from each class will be chosen to be exhibited at the State Fair.

Winners in the individual and in the team demonstration contests will compete at the State Fair, Monday, Aug. 26.

Reports indicate that anyone interested in this work will see some beautiful costumes and well developed demonstrations.

Mrs. Margaret Klingler of Somerset, Ohio, a former home demonstration agent in Jefferson county, will judge the contests.

The public is invited to attend the revue and demonstration.

Instructions Given At Mt. Pleasant Grange Meeting

TRIESTE SCENE OF NUMEROUS MURDERS NOW

Political Killings Common In Adriatic Port Of Mixed Nationalities

BY JOSEPH J. BAICICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
TRIESTE, Aug. 15—Cosmopolitan Trieste, where for centuries Slavs, Austrians, Hungarians, Greeks and Jews mingled with Italians, is rapidly becoming a hotbed of political espionage, terrorism and murder.

For although a bitter struggle has gone on for the past 60 years for the control of the rich port town, the "jewel of the Adriatic," Trieste has always regarded political murder as beneath its dignity.

Now hardly a week passes without at least one murder. Often the victim is an anti-Tito Yugoslav. Each time the bitterly anti-Tito press denounces the act. The left press ignores the incident. The victim is buried and forgotten.

Thus the murder of Dr. Ivan Protulipac, secretary of the Catholic action in Croatia, six months ago is forgotten, but its effect and pattern is still in operation.

Protulipac lived in Trieste. One day as he was going home at noon, a stranger stepped up from behind, shoved a broad, long tube into the back of his neck and killed him.

The murder weapon was a specially-constructed pistol with a contraption to muffle sound and firing of only one shot at a time.

The murderer, Gino Bencich, said he killed Protulipac because he was a "fascist, and the fascists burned my home."

Recently, the Triestini have come to know the "phantom flat," a black sedan that rolls down its terrified victims and leaves behind a riddled corpse.

The black sedan is the subject of the wildest stories about the Ozna (Yugoslav secret police) and its nocturnal descents into Trieste from zone B to carry out a "mission."

Some think there must be several phantom sedans as one of them was involved in a prosaic collision with a trolley recently. In the ensuing excitement the driver left the car and vanished in the crowd. Police found a pair of handcuffs on the back seat. The seat was splashed with dried blood.

Three weeks ago, just before midnight, a black sedan pulled to the curb in the Via Della Torre Bianca. Two men got out and approached a lanky Serbian pedestrian. They grabbed him and dragged him toward the car but he broke away.

He ran toward his home just a few doors away but before he could get into the building the mysterious black sedan had pulled up again behind him.

Five revolver shots were fired and the sedan pulled away, leaving the Serbian dead.

If you're inclined to fret because the good news hasn't come that your Buick's ready, just remember this:

The best is never easiest to get. And top-notch goods always pull the biggest buy-lines.

So it isn't just parts and material shortages that keep our waiting list long, though they have plenty to do with it.

It is also the plain fact that Buick stands today as the most wanted car in America.

It's wanted for style that puts you right out in front of the motorcar fashion parade.

It's wanted for the abundant power of big Fireball straight-eight engines, built to precision standards not even Buick ever achieved before.

It's wanted for the matchless comfort of BuickCoil springing, three-person seats, Foamtex-covered cushions — and for the good, husky, time-defying bulk that means a car that's good for years.

It's wanted because it's a car that is solid Buick character all the way through — a standout performer that's right to the last fine detail and complete in every way when you get it.

Fact is — every new Buick delivered seems to bring in more orders.

Demand is actually growing — not just because new cars are needed, but because this Buick is so far, far ahead of what people expected.

So it's smart to act quickly. We can't deliver cars faster than the factory can make them — but the sooner your name's on our order sheet, the shorter your wait will be.

What Other Car Has So Much That Clicks For Forty-Six!

SMARTNESS — that sets the style pattern with car-length Airfoil fenders and bolt-on rear wheel shields.

POWER — from a Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine.

OIL SAVINGS — from non-scuffing Accurite cylinder bores.

FLASHING ACTION — of Fliteweight pistons.

STEADINESS — from full-length torque-tube drive in a sealed chassis.

GLIDING RIDE — from Panthorgait all-coil springing.

COMFORT — of soft Foamtex cushions in roomy Body by Fisher.

SURE FOOTING — of Broadrim wheels.

CONTROL — through Permi-firm steering.

CONVENIENCE — of high-leverage Step-On parking brake.

PROTECTION — Buick-originated fender-shielding front and rear bumpers.

ATOMIC POWER FOR INDUSTRIAL USE SEEN SOON

Scientists Predict Atoms
Will Make Electric Power Cheaper

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The time when atomic energy can be used to produce electric power at "slightly less" cost than in present day coal-fired plants is "much closer at hand than most people think," two scientists of the Westinghouse Electric Corp. report.

Dr. J. A. Hutcheson, associate director of the Westinghouse research laboratories, and C. F. Wagner, manager of the central station engineering department, disclosed results of a survey of the relative costs of electric power produced by atomic energy and in coal-fired plants.

"This survey," they reported, "indicates that the possible application of atomic energy to the production of electric power is sufficiently feasible as to warrant a careful and thorough investigation. From what we can see now it appears that technical problems, rather than economic problems are the ones which must be solved before the atomic power plant of the future is practical."

The report says: "An assumption is made that an atomic-powered 100,000 kilowatt plant would be built, in which the cost of the equipment and plant necessary to provide steam for the turbines would be about $12,000,000. This is roughly four times the cost of the steam end of an equivalent power plant using coal as a fuel.

"Calculations were made comparing the cost of power obtained from this atomic power plant with that obtained from a coal power plant. These calculations included amortization of the investment in each case at the rate of 15 per cent per year. It was further assumed that the atomic fuel would be refined natural uranium such as was used in the 'piles' at Hanford and Oak Ridge (atomic bomb manufacturing site). Assuming that this material costs $20 a pound, the total cost of the generation of electric power in the atomic plant appears to be slightly less than is the case in the coal-fired plant, assuming that coal costs $5 a ton."

For City Of 300,000
The scientists explained that a plant with a capacity of 100,000 kilowatts could supply the electrical requirements of a community of approximately 300,000 persons. At present, they added, there is continuous production of large quantities of controlled atomic power in the form of heat at both Hanford and Oak Ridge but it is a by-product and is carried away in one plant by air and in the other by a stream of water. By inference, they said, it seems reasonable to guess that this power must amount to many thousands of kilowatts.

Therefore it seems logical to suspect that the earliest applications of atomic power will be similar to the present scheme of obtaining power from coal, in that steam probably will be used to drive the turbine and that the heat liberated in connection with the fission of some material will be used to form the steam.

"If this is so, the problems associated with this work will be those brought about by the replacement of the present boiler and coal combustion equipment with some suitable heat exchanger and atomic

SIX TONS OF DISHES WASHED IN AVERAGE HOME ANNUALLY

Accelerated Salvaging of Household Fat Makes Possible Present Supplies of Soap for This and Other Household Chores

It has been calculated that every American housewife washes six tons of dishes every year! Add up the accumulation from 365 breakfasts, lunches, dinners and in-between snacks and the total would fill six trucks, experts say. Staggering as the task of washing six tons of dishes sounds, imagine how much more impossible the job would be without soap! The prospect of a soap-less life is not on the horizon, however, as long as housewives keep up their present rate of salvaging fat.

Department of Agriculture authorities point out that if it had not been for salvaged fat in 1945, housewives would have had 13 per cent less soap. Even so there are not enough industrial fats and oils available to meet the demand for soaps and other goods the public wants.

Help Yourself

Every time you turn in a pound of fat to your meat dealer you are actually helping yourself and your neighbors by relieving the shortage not only of soap but also of scarce items like table linen, draperies, floor coverings, even possibly some more nylons.

Food experts too are urging fat conservation! Use and reuse every drop and ounce of beef, bacon and even lamb fat when you're cooking, they say. Then, when you've had all the food value of your fat, turn in the drippings and scrapings for salvage.

The 800,000,000 people starving in Europe and Asia are scavenging in garbage cans for grease that many an American family washes down the drain. Fats are scarce everywhere. We, as a nation, must be careful not to waste material, which if properly used would save human lives in some other country.

power equipment," the survey stated.

Chief difficulty in the way of an atomic power plant is the need for special shielding equipment to confine the "very intense and dangerous radiations" emanating from the uranium fuel, the report said, adding that steel or concrete several feet thick probably would be needed.

NCTSAF CLAIMS SUPERSTITIONS ARE JUST BUNK

National Association Says It Is Okay To Walk Under Ladder, Etc.

BY JACK GAYER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—It's okay now to walk under a ladder, tangle paths with a black cat, light three on a match or thumb your nose at Friday the 13th. The NCTSAF guarantees that nothing will happen in the normal course of events.

If you should bump the ladder and knock off a can of paint onto your noggin, or step on the cat and bust an ankle, or burn your fingers on a match, you're just a clumsy lout and the NCTSAF wants to hear none of your complaints.

The NCTSAF is the National Committee of Thirteen against Superstition and Fear. It began operations August 13. Among those present were movie cameramen and a press agent.

Among those absent were Woody Herman, the bandleader, who is national chairman (and a client of the press agent), and Jack Dempsey, first vice president and official "amulet breaker." This is the same Dempsey who used to be known as a back buster. Woody was out in California and Jack was in Salt Lake City. Both sent cheery messages. "I am in the ring with you," Jack wired.

Walter Otteson, the mayor of Sauk City, Minn., who had nothing whatever to do with the movement, got wind of it and wired a list of his qualifications as a superstition scoffer which began with mention of the 13 letters in his name and ended with the fact that Sauk City is the home town of novelist Sinclair Lewis. He forgot to note that there are 13 letters in Sinclair Lewis.

The letterheads of the organization list 13 vice presidents, a fair number of them being entertainers and patrons of the press agent involved. Among them are writer Louis Adamic and artist John Vassos. The hotel hall where the meeting was held was decorated with the original drawings with which Vassos illustrated his book, "Phobias," a dozen years ago.

"This is really a serious business with us," said Nick Matsoukas who is a publicity man for a movie outfit. "We have to gag it up in order to make people pay attention. We're challenging the statement of a Harvard professor recently that the human race isn't worth bothering with because it is superstition-ridden. We'll hold public meetings every Friday the 13th to debunk superstitions for the public.

The first one will be in September at the academy of music. Its entrance is on 13th street."

Matsoukas himself lays claim to being the last of 13 children, has 13 letters in his name and was born on June 13.

The movies taken will be used in a short which will deal with

FIGHT TO HALT HERO'S DEPORTATION

DESPITE A WAR RECORD that includes the shooting down of 29 Nazi planes, Boleslaw Gladych (inset), New York, has been ordered deported by Sept. 30, because he came to the United States on a British visa. away County Fair which is scheduled for Sept. 11-14.

In the final examinations, Dr. Blackburn explained, the scoring was on the basis of a possible maximum of 1,000 points.

"It is to be regretted that only 2 boys took the final examination," Dr. Blackburn commented.

Miss Rodgers scored 990 points out of a possible 1,000, the health commissioner said. She is a member of the Up and Coming Cattle Club, a 4-H organization of which Ralph Haughn is the leader. Miss Rodgers is five feet 3 inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has chest measurement of 36 inches, and waist 27 1/2 inches. During the next term she will be a senior in the Scioto Township High School.

Donald Dowler, a member of the 4-H club titled the Duval Go-Getters with Hewitt Crumley as leader, stands 6 feet tall, weighs 180 pounds, and he scored 947 points. Dowler will be a junior at the next term in the Ashville High School. The health commissioner said that Dowler lost 15 points due to the fact he had not undergone diphtheria immunization.

Dowler's runner-up is Emerson Connell, 14, of Derby, who scored 942 points, having also forfeited 15 points because of lack of diphtheria immunization. Freckled-faced and auburn-haired, Connell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brice Connell. His father is superintendent of the Darby township high school where young Connell will be a sophomore at the next school term. Connell is 5 feet 7 inches tall, and weighs 132 pounds.

Second place in the race for the title of healthiest girl in the county was won by Mildred Furniss, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss, Monroe township. Mildred achieved a score of 979 points. She is a member of the Salad and Sandwich club, a 4-H group with Mrs. Margaret Brigner as leader. Miss Furniss is blonde, 5 feet 1 inch tall, and weighs 100 pounds. In the fall term she will be a senior in the Monroe Township High School.

Barbara Moss, 14, of Saltcreek township, won third place in the girls' competition, with a score of 975 points. She is blonde, 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 164 pounds, and will be a sophomore at the next term in the Saltcreek township high school. Barbara is a member of the Saltcreek Victory Stitches, a 4-H club of which Mrs. Leslie Dearth is the leader.

The points calculated in the final examinations, Dr. Blackburn explained, were based on the contestants' health history, record of past illnesses, habits, diet, with deductions of points for any defects in muscles, head, mouth, skin, thyroid gland, lymph nodes, posture, bones, feet, gait, lungs, heart and blood vessels, blood pressure, abdomen, nervous system, blood test, smallpox and diphtheria immunization, poise, alertness, attitude, eyes, ears, nose, throat, and teeth.

"Of those examined," Dr. Blackburn commented, "the lungs, heart and abdomen were found to be especially good. The eye, ear, nose and throat showed very few defects in the final examinations."

"Most of the defects found could have been prevented by better health habits. I might add in this connection that many youngsters can be greatly benefited by the development of correct breathing habits and by accomplishing the proper gait in walking."

"Several points were deducted from scores because of dryness of scalp and hair and also for lack of hair gloss. Poor posture and gait were discovered to be common defects. Coordinated movements and a firm gait with grace, ease and spring were found to be the exception rather than the rule. The most numerous defects found were in the teeth, with color and condition of the skin as second. Poor condition of fingernails and toenails also was prominent—and a majority of the girls were found to have flat feet and poor arches."

BLUE RIBBON 9 EDGED IN FIRST 'GAME OF SERIES

Stansbury-Stout 3-1 Winner
Before Large Crowd In Ted Lewis Park

Stansbury-Stout Thursday held
the edge in the playoff series for the season's title in the Night Softball League.

Playing before another large crowd in Ted Lewis park, Stans-
bury-Stout defeated Blue Ribbon
3-1 Wednesday night in the first game of the two best of three game series between the first and second round winners.

Second game in the series will be played tonight at 8:30.

Both teams had trouble getting hits, each getting three, but Stansbury-Stout players got all of theirs
in the same inning to score their three runs.

Blue Ribbon took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when Lee Sieg-
wald walked, stole second and came home on "Chub" Valentine's single to left.

From then on Don Easter kept most of the Daemons off the bases. He did not allow another hit until one was out in the seventh. Harold Stonerock walked in the sixth but "Snow" Seymour hit into a double play, Bill Ankrom to J. M. Stout.

Willis Conley blanked the first round champions the first three innings. Ed Webb got a walk in the first. J. M. Stout walked in the second but was put out on a double play from Leon Sims to Bob Moon.

Conley got the first man in the fourth but the second man, Ankrom, slashed a double. Bob Steele singled and stole second. Ankrom was thrown out at the plate when
"Skeet" Smallwood bunted to third. J. M. Stout then cleaned the bases, scoring behind Steele and Smallwood. Stout was given a triple on a long drive to right
and came home when Seymour threw the ball into the crowd back of first trying to peg home.

Fans are expected to jam the park tonight to watch both teams make desperate efforts to win. A victory for Stansbury-Stout would end the series and give the team
the championship. Blue Ribbon could take the title by winning tonight and Friday night.

Announcer John Heiskell urged players and fans to dedicate the game played on the first anniversary of V-J day to the "Pickaway county men who paid the supreme sacrifice so that we might have ball games". Heiskell and many of the players on the field Wednesday night were with the armed services in various parts of the world when President Truman announced hostilities had ceased.

RICHARDS OUT OF TOURNAMENT AT CHILLICOTHE

Last Circleville team was out of the district softball tournament at Chillicothe Thursday and the district title will go to either a Portsmouth or Chillicothe team.

Showing the strain of five successive nights of play Richards implements was edged 5-4 by Portsmouth Barklow Engineers
Wednesday night. Pitching his fifth straight night, Tod McKinney allowed six hits, but walked five and hit two batters. He struck out eight, the smallest total of any of the five games in which he struck out a total of 71 men.

Richards got eight hits off Suter,
Portsmouth pitcher, but could do little scoring until the last inning.
In the seventh the Implement men came within a run of tying up the ball game, counting three markers.

In the other game Hernstein
Hardware won 9-4 from Portsmouth Independents. The Chillicothe team won with a seven-run outburst in the fifth after trailing 4-0
until then.

Tonight the winners of the Wednesday games meet for the right to play Portsmouth Ramey Feeds
Friday. The winner of the Friday game plays Texaco for the championship.

DODGERS GAIN WITH TWIN WIN Reds Take Ninth Straight Defeat; Indians Cop 12-Inning Tilt

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 — Major league baseball's first "two-games-
for-the-price-of-two" double header was both a financial and artistic success today.

President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers, never a man to turn down an "honest dollar," saw history made at Ebbets Field when 57,044 fans trekked through the turnstiles in one day, 30,254 for the night contest and 26,970 for the day affair.

Manager Leo Durocher rejoiced
because the Dodgers clipped the Giants in both movements of baseball's first "two part symphony," winning the afternoon affair, 8 to 4, and the night contest, 2 to 1.

That put the Dodgers a game and a half ahead of the Cardinals and left them in a strategic position because after tomorrow they tackle the Phils who have yet to beat them this season at Brooklyn.

The fans, many of whom paid
the full admission price to see each game, didn't care, figuring that it was a "bargain" any time that the hated Giants were subdued even once in one day.

The double crowd boosted Brooklyn's home attendance for the season to 1,236,162, a new all-time high, surpassing the 1,214,910
mark set by the Dodgers of 1941.

The Cardinals wound up their seven city road tour with a 6 to 4 victory over the Cubs at Chicago
which gave them a record of 12
wins and eight losses for the trip.

Howie Pollet scored his 14th victory, coasting in after the fourth inning when the Cards made all four runs off Hank Borowy. Erv (Four Sack) Dusak of the Cards and Don Johnson of the Cubs hit homers.

The Pirates won their fifth straight game, all by one run margins, 3 to 2, over the Reds who suffered their ninth straight loss.
Nick Strincevich scored his seventh victory, getting off to a running start when the Pirates made three runs in the first inning.

Pitcher Mort Cooper of the Braves gained his 10th victory but injured his elbow and ankle scoring the winning run over the Phils
in a 5 to 4 game at Boston and was expected to be out indefinitely.

He was hurt sliding home in the sixth. Danny Litwhiler hit a Boston homer and Ron Northey hit a homer and two doubles for the Phils.

The Indians scored a 12th inning,
6 to 5, decision over the Tigers at Cleveland when Lou Boudreau doubled and slow-moving Heinz Becker scored from first as outfielder Pat Mullin bobbled the ball.

Boudreau made four hits for the day to lead the Indians. Outfielder Hank Edwards, honored by home town friends from Norwalk, O., who presented him with $1,000 in cash and other gifts, got two hits
for the Indians.

The Red Sox topped the Athletics, 3 to 1, as Cecil (Tex) Hughson missed a shutout when Barney Mc-Closkey hit a first inning homer.
He yielded only four hits while the Red Sox made 10, including a homer by Dom DiMaggio. It was Hughson's 13th victory.

Yankee youngster Floyd Bevens gave the Senators four hits and one unearned run for his 13th victory, 4 to 1, at New York.
Aaron Robinson hit a Yankee homer, the 100th of the season for the New Yorkers. It marked the 23rd year that the Yankees as a team had hit 100 or more homers.

Football Practice To Start At CHS Wednesday, Aug. 21

All Circleville high school boys interested in football are urged by Coach Steve Brudzinski to report
Wednesday, August 21, at 3:30
p. m. when the first practice session is scheduled.

Coach Brudzinski announced
Thursday that he wants all boys who want to try for a place on the 1946 CHS squad on hand for the first practice at the CHS football field.

A short meeting will be held before the first session and then the serious business of getting in shape for a stern campaign will get under way.

The first few days, Wednesday through Saturday, the squad will practice once a day in shorts. Conditioning will be stressed.

Starting Monday, August 26, there will be two practices daily in regulation football equipment.
Two-day sessions are planned
until school starts.

Nine lettermen will be back from last year's squad. In the group are five linemen and four backs. Returning letter winners are: James Carter, John Fissell, Rod Heine,
Robert McCoy, Ed Webb, Robert Steele, Jack Stout, Paul Smallwood and Ed Strawser.

The following boys were on the squad last year but did not have enough quarters to get a letter:
Howard Lovenshimer, Charles
Thomas, Tom Pettit, John Rhoads, Jack Palm, Carl Radcliff, Robert
Johnson, Don Woodward, Jack
Pettit, John Beck, Gene Radcliff, Robert Elisea, Marcus Albright,
Ronnie Hennis, David Crawford,
Charles Sabine, Glen Smallwood,
Ned Wells, Ralph Starkey, Robert
Phillips, Paul Lovenshimer, Jim Mogan, Richard Francis, Don Hill and Alfred Wilkes.

Besides the boys returning from last year's squad there may be a sprinkling of war veterans among the more youthful aspirants for positions on the 1946 team. Leon Sims, Jimmy Wells and Porter
Winner have recently returned from service and are expected to return to school this fall and probably will be out for football again.

OWEN BARRED FROM PLAY IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Chandler Rules Five-Year
Suspension On Jumpers Remains In Force

CINCINNATI, Aug. 15—There was no place in major league baseball today—nor will there be for the next five years—for ex-Dodger catcher Mickey Owen or any of the other players who left to seek their fortunes in the Mexican League.

Baseball Commissioner A. B.
(Happy) Chandler made that plain last night when he issued a reiteration of an earlier ruling that all Mexican League jumpers were au-tomatically suspended for five years.

"No evidence has been shown to the commissioner that would alter his opinion on the suspension of players who jumped contracts in organized baseball," the statement said.

Owen, who fled from a lucrative Mexican League contract in an effort to regain a catching job with the pennant-seeking Brooklyn Dodgers, had hoped that he would be given amnesty by the commissioner because he had not actually been under contract to Brooklyn when he made his jump. Contending that his case differed from those of other jumpers because he went directly from the Navy to Mexico, Owen emphasized that he would be in a good position to persuade other jumpers to return if he received lenient treatment.

Chandler, who refused to meet
Owen personally despite the fact that the catcher made a special trip to Cincinnati to see him, was not here at the time the official announcement was made. His secretary, Walter Mulbry, merely stated that Owen's formal request for reinstatement had been certified to Chandler by National League President Ford Frick and that there was nothing that the commissioner could do for the catcher. Chandler was at Wichita, Kan., to participate in the opening of the annual national semi-pro baseball congress.

The ruling against Owen was expected to halt any "north-of-the-border" exodus by other Mexican League players, particularly Luis Olmo, who applied for reinstatement

to the Brooklyn Dodgers
through a friend in San Juan, P. R.
Olmo, a standout wartime Dodger outfielder and infielder who has difficulty with the English language, reportedly asked the friend,
Jose Otero Suro, to write a letter to Chandler stating that he wanted to be replaced on the eligible list and permitted to petition for a return to organized baseball.

However, Olmo's wife denied heavily in Mexico City that her husband, star performer for the Vera Cruz Blues, had sought reinstatement.

"There seems to be a deliberate campaign to embarrass as many Mexican League players as possible," she said. "Luis and I are very happy in Mexico and he intends to stay here to finish out his contract."

Frick expressed elation in New York over the Chandler ruling. He said that he had submitted "without recommendation" Owen's request for reinstatement.

"Chandler did the proper thing,"
he said. "It certainly was a good ruling."

Neither Branch Rickey, president of the Dodgers, nor Manager
Leo Durocher would express comment on the decision, although both openly had hoped that Chandler would rule favorably on Owen's petition for reinstatement.

President Jorge Pasquel of the Mexican League said he felt that justice had been done in keeping Owen from returning to the majors, but that he still wanted to get back the $26,000 he says the catcher owes him from salary advances.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT<

Half Mile Track At Fairgrounds Is Almost Completed

Work on the half-mile race track at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds was nearing completion, Thursday, and officials of the Pickaway County Agricultural Society said that it will be one of the finest half-mile courses in Ohio.

The track will be used for the first time during the revived four-day County Fair which will begin Sept. 11 and continue through Sept. 14.

Next month will witness the first full-fledged County Fair in Pickaway county in 48 years. The annual event was abandoned back in 1898 and is being revived in 1946.

Plans have been formulated to make this year's County Fair a gala affair during the four-day thrill-packed program.

The revamping of the old Fairgrounds, erection of new buildings, building of roads, installation of a lighting system and other improvements represent an outlay of close to $30,000, with another $5,000 spent for building the race track.

The new track is 80 feet wide on the home stretch and 50 feet on the back stretch. A two-way road has been constructed all the way around the race track and 10 feet distant from the outer railing.

Workmen are now finishing the erection of the inner rail and next will install the outer rail.

The revived County Fair will be well illumined. Poles are being installed 150 feet apart and atop the poles will be powerful flood lights.

Agricultural Society spokesmen said that details will be omitted and that the 1946 County Fair will constitute four full days and nights of excellent entertainment and fun, spiced with informative and educational exhibits.

There will be a fireworks display each night. Other features will be a full-fledged circus, horse races, livestock exhibits and also exhibits of 4-H club and FFA clothing, cooking and dairying.

Junior farming will be given emphasis throughout the County Fair. There are expected to be between 600 and 700 exhibits of Junior livestock, clothing, cooking, and dairying. These will include exhibits by members of 4-H clubs and the FFA and the displays will include rabbits and chickens.

There will be a horse and pony show under auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, an Angus show sponsored by the Pickaway County Angus Breeders' Association, and a Shropshire show under auspices of the Pickaway County Shropshire Breeders' Association.

An outstanding feature of the County Fair program will be Hoaglan's Hippodrome, a circus comprising 10 big events including thrilling feats of equestrian skill.

The admission price at the County Fair will be 40 cents for all persons over 12 years of age with free admission for all under 12. Cost of becoming a member of the fair organization is $2 and each membership entitles the holder to free admission on all four days of the big exposition.
